Tracer balls designed for performance

Tracer 2000 Tactical BBs were developed to meet the needs of players seeking precision, visibility, and consistency. Thanks to their perfectly spherical shape and careful manufacturing, they ensure smooth feeding in most 6mm airsoft replicas.

Spectacular lighting effect with a tracer

The green phosphorescent coating activates when used with a compatible tracer unit. The result is particularly impressive during nighttime games, CQB, or in dimly lit environments. Every trajectory becomes visible, improving shot tracking and enhancing immersion.

Precision and consistency of manufacturing

With a controlled diameter of 5.95 mm $\pm$ 0.01 mm, these BBs offer excellent homogeneity. This tight tolerance promotes consistent trajectories, improved flight stability, and reliable operation in both precision guns and standard configurations.

A polished finish to limit incidents

The smooth, seamless surface reduces the risk of jamming and helps protect the replica's internal components. This quality is especially appreciated during long gaming sessions where reliable power delivery becomes crucial.

- Packaging: Bag of 2,000 marbles
- Activation: Via compatible tracer unit
- Compatibility: 6mm AEG, GBB and HPA replicas
- Tolerance: ± 0.01 mm

Maximum visibility on the field

Whether for night games, milsim scenarios, or CQB sessions in dark environments, these tracer BBs allow for clear visualization of trajectories. They offer a significant advantage for quickly adjusting shots while providing a particularly immersive visual effect.

FAQ

Do these marbles work without a tracer unit?

Yes, they can be used like regular marbles, but the light effect requires a compatible tracer unit.

Which replicas are they compatible with?

They are compatible with all airsoft replicas using 6mm BBs.
