A formidable precision for an unbeatable price with its walnut thumbhole stock

The PCP RX6 RAVELLO rifle is a pellet rifle with a striking design: its thumbhole stock in Turkish walnut optimizes its grip and the balance of the weapon.

2 pressure gauges are present on the rifle in order to precisely monitor the air pressure present in the 550 cc tank (200 bars maximum) and the pressure contained in the regulator. The latter ensures shots at constant pressure, which has the effect of greatly improving the regularity of the shots, and therefore the accuracy.
