PDW (Personal Defense Weapon) type weapons first saw the light of day during World War II. They were intended for support unit soldiers based behind the lines, tank units, artillerymen ... They allowed soldiers qualified as "non-combatants" to be able to defend themselves in the event of an enemy attack.

PDWs in their modern form saw their advent in the 1990s with the APDW (Advanced Personal Defense Weapon) program. the result was a wide democratization of these weapons within law enforcement units, conventional units and special forces.

History of the MOS brand:

The MOS Manufacture brand installed in HONG KONG, is first of all known for its manufacture of accessories for airsoft, with an excellent quality / price ratio, recognized by all.

Eager to develop their own replica, it offers a very qualitative range, acclaimed by airsofters: ARCTURUS
