The essential Ultrair gas now with silicone gun lubricant

Description:

Part of ASG's new Ultrair Power Gas range, this is the same great-performing gas as the classic Ultra, but now with added silicone - so with every shot your gun gets the lubrication it needs.

With an expected pressure of 135 psi *, this green gas is intended for spring, summer and early fall play and suitable for a wide selection of GBBs and GBBRs.

Like all our new Power Gas, this product has been tested at a target temperature of 25°C/77°F.

Also tested at 5°C, 10°C, 15°C, 20°C, and 30°C, you'll find the results on the back of the cylinder in a handy temperature and pressure chart. This will help you choose the right gas for your replica and the weather.

When you want a versatile green gas for year-round play (especially in spring, summer, and early fall), then the ASG Ultrair Airsoft Power Gas 135 psi is a must-have for the GBBs in your collection.

*Tested at 25°C/77°F
