An ideal capacity for long gaming sessions

The Lancer Tactical Drum M4 1200 Electric offers a 1,200-round magazine capacity, significantly reducing reloads during games. It's an ideal solution for players who want to maintain a high rate of fire while benefiting from a more compact design than a high-capacity drum magazine.

Automatic electric winding

Thanks to its integrated electric mechanism, this magazine ensures a consistent feed of BBs without requiring frequent manual rewinding. This feature improves user comfort and allows you to stay focused on the game rather than managing the magazine.

Compatible with AEG M4 and M16 platforms

Developed to fit most M4 AEG and M16 AEG replicas, this magazine is an excellent addition for players looking for more autonomy without changing their main configuration.

Robust construction in nylon polymer

Its construction from reinforced nylon polymer allows it to combine lightness and strength. This design facilitates movement while offering the necessary robustness to withstand the stresses of regular use in the field.

Perfect for light supporting roles

With its generous capacity and automatic power feed, this magazine perfectly meets the needs of players who favor long engagement periods. It allows for maintaining a consistent rate of fire during outdoor games, tactical scenarios, or milsim events.

- Capacity: 1,200 marbles
- Material: Reinforced nylon polymer
- Operation: Automatic electric winding
- Power supply: 9V battery
- Compatibility: M4 and M16 AEG
- Uses: Long games, milsim, and support
- Format: High-capacity compact drum

An excellent compromise between capacity and maneuverability

Unlike high-capacity drum magazines, this model maintains a relatively compact form factor while offering significantly greater autonomy than a standard magazine. It's a smart choice for players seeking a balance between mobility and firepower.
