Restore your slingshot to its full effectiveness

After numerous shooting sessions, replacing the bands becomes essential to maintain optimal performance. Barnett Double-X Speed Bands were developed to offer a more comfortable shooting experience while maintaining efficient and consistent propulsion.

A tubular design engineered for performance

Thanks to their tubular design, these elastic bands ensure excellent energy return during firing. The result is dynamic projectile propulsion while minimizing the effort required to cock the weapon. In practice, you'll quickly notice improved fluidity during extended sessions.

30% less effort in the draw

The Double-X design reduces draw resistance by up to 30%. This feature improves user comfort and reduces fatigue during repeated shots. This is a particularly welcome benefit for regular users seeking greater flexibility without sacrificing performance.

Brushed leather pouch for optimal support

The central brushed leather pouch ensures excellent projectile stability before firing. This design promotes stable positioning and helps improve shot consistency while offering good wear resistance.

Compatible with Barnett tubular slingshots

Designed to fit the brand's tubular models, these elastic bands are compatible with the Barnett Havoc and Barnett Black Widow slingshots. Installing them restores your equipment to its original performance.
