An accessible and fun airsoft revolver

This revolver, made by ASG under license from Zastava Arms , offers a simple and straightforward approach to airsoft. From the moment you pick it up, you'll feel a lightweight, easy-to-handle replica - ideal for recreational shooting or your first few sessions. Its blowback-free operation promotes consistent shots and reduces gas consumption.

Non-blowback gas operation

The non-blowback system optimizes gas efficiency while ensuring consistent firing. The gas is stored directly in the grip, simplifying operation. In practice, this results in a quiet, energy-efficient mechanism, particularly well-suited to extended shooting sessions.

Compact size and polymer construction

The FPV (Full Polymer Version) design offers an excellent balance between lightness and robustness. Weighing only 475g, this revolver is easily portable and remains comfortable to use, even over extended periods. It's exactly the kind of replica you keep on hand for quick, instinctive shooting.

Precision and adjustable aiming

The adjustable sights allow you to fine-tune your aim according to your preferences or the engagement distance. Combined with a power output of 0.72 joules and a velocity of 85 m/s, the replica delivers consistent performance for recreational shooting in controlled environments.

Simple and effective food

The 12-round stick magazine fits discreetly and conveniently under the barrel. This system allows for quick reloading and intuitive use, which is especially appreciated by beginners.
